

Aleksandra Cvetanović, Ph.D
Department of Biotechnology and Pharmaceutical Engineering,
Faculty of Technology, University of Novi Sad, Bulevar cara Lazara 1, SR-
21000 Novi Sad, Serbia
Phone: +381 21 485-3600 , Fax: +381 21 450-413
Email: a.c.istrzivac@gmail.com; amod@uns.ac.rs

Aleksandra Cvetanović, works as a research associate at the Faculty of Technology, University of Novi Sad, Serbia.

Research Interest: Her research is especially focused on green extraction techniques and green solvents for the bio-active components isolation. Postdoctoral researching she was doing at the Faculty of Chemistry, Nicolaus Copernicus University, Torun (Poland) as well as at the Moscow State University Lomonosov (Russia).

As author and co-author she has published over 100 scientific papers and releases, out of which more than 40 articles published in SCI journal and 3 as book chapters.

Her quotation index is 262 while the h-index is 10. As invited speaker, she gave a few plenary speeches at national and international conferences. At the invitation of the Chinese Academy of Forestry, as an honorary, she attended in China a special ceremony and marking of a great anniversary of this prestigious Chinese institution. On this occasion, her name was among the 100 VIP scientists from around the world. She is a much-awarded young scientist, while her doctoral dissertation received a special award as the dissertation that gave the highest contribution to the science at the universities in the Republic of Serbia in the sphere of environmental protection. She is awarded as the best young scientist of Serbia for 2019 year. She speaks English and Russian languages.